

MALT New Prices

Publisher : Kagaku Gijutsu-Sha

MALT for Windows has been sold to many users since its release in 2003.

Based on the turnover, monetary supports have been made, through a scientific support organization, for many international/domestic conferences, and projects concerning calorimetry, thermal analysis, and thermodynamics, including IUPAC. We here mention above with acknowledgement to the MALT users.

In March 2015, however, the organization ended its mission and dissolved at its own discretion. Accordingly the price structure has been changed as follows.

Main changes except the prices are:

1. A licensee can buy additional 1 USB dongle for convenience of operation, while the principle of 1 user per 1 license remains.
2. Educational organizations are entitled to buy MALT at academic prices.
3. The users who bought MALT before March 31, 2015 can buy the additional dongle at special prices.
